Do you think that we could somehow stop the incessant pulsating ticking? Let's smash the numbered faces, Let's hold our breaths forever and we'll chase Time away.

But we will then no longer have experience to learn from. The look of the lovers will never consumate into a kiss. For there will be no Yesterday and no Tomorrow. It is a hard price to pay. The silence when the beating has stopped would suffocate us. We would die from the stifling immortality.

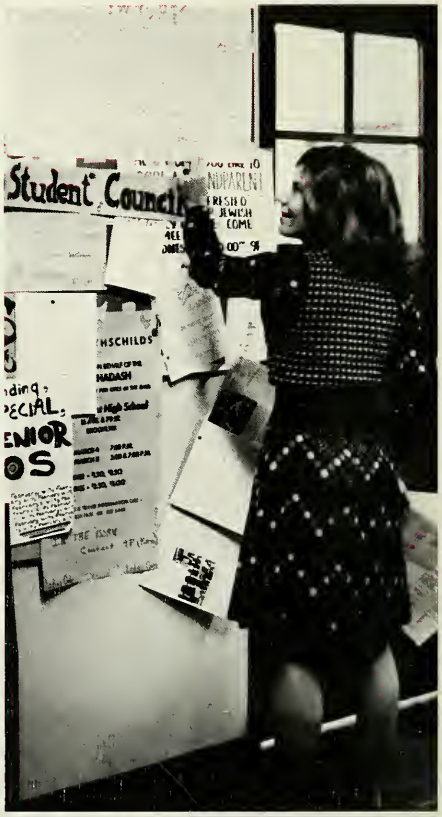

Four years, four dear, crucial years have come to an end. We have passed through these years and we have grown, matured. We will never forget these years for they have meant so much to us. Now as young adults we are better prepared to fulfill ourselves in the world that is ever so open to us.

Fellow students — Remember these years. Remember our friendships and our love for one another. Remember how we all cared. Cherish our memory of Stern College. Never let go of our special yesterday, for it will always guide us in our todays and tomorrows.

DEDICATION

With pride and affection we dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Jenny Giges, Director of the Residence Hall.

Seventeen years ago Mrs. Giges moved in with the first class of Stern College. A true pioneer, Mrs. Giges worked around the clock to establish a safe as well as warm home away from home for girls attending Stern College. Because of her dedication to Yeshiva University and to the girls, she has been able to create the framework of dormitory life through such innovations as Student Court, Floorchairmen, and Resident Assistants on every floor.

Throughout the years Mrs. Giges has been our mother, sister, advisor, friend. Her door has been open to us always, at all hours, whenever we needed her. She has seen over fifteen hundred girls through a crucial period of their lives. She has helped us enjoy our happy moments and taught us to learn from the sad.

Truly Mrs. Giges, you have made the adjustment of living in the Big City by ourselves that much easier. We will never forget you. From the bottom of our hearts we thank you.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

I am most pleased to extend my best wishes to the class of '73 as you prepare to leave Stern College. When you began your college studies, campuses across the United States were in great turmoil; today, as you leave, many find themselves impelled to comment on the quiet that has returned to the college scene. In these years changes, perhaps new directions, have begun to appear in institutions of higher education. Some of the changes give promise of becoming established patterns, while others, fought for most unrelentingly, have proven to be ephemeral.

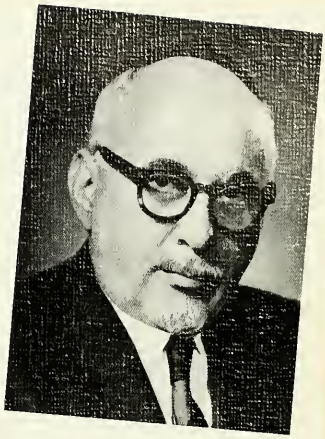

In your years at Stern College you have experienced the same swings and movements as have other college students. At the same time, however, you were committed to a program which permits and encourages freedom of action and freedom of thought for students, but is rooted in a fixed philosophy of life and traditional values. Your experiences, thus, in a manner of speaking, exemplify the purpose of, and serve as a justification for the existence of Stern College, and Yeshiva University as a whole. There is need for freedom in the struggle of the individual to find and understand oneself, but it is also true that one needs a fixed point to keep from losing oneself entirely. We have encouraged experimentation and have searched for new ways of achieving our goal, but our goal has remained clear. We are still unswervingly committed to offering our students an education of highest quality in Jewish studies coupled with an excellent liberal arts program. We are convinced that in mounting such a dual program we are best serving our students as individuals as well as members of the community in which we live.

It is in the area of Jewish studies that we have launched some of our more interesting experiments, undertaking to discover better ways of teaching and communicating knowledge and training minds without compromising our committment to the traditional Jewish concepts of love of learning and acceptance of the discipline of the higher moral code. This, I believe, has worked to your benefit, and it will continue to strengthen you as you build your lives in the years ahead.

It was a pleasure to have worked with you, and I extend to you my best wishes for continued success and fulfillment in the years to come. I devoutly hope that as we worked together during your student days to improve Stern College, so will I have the privilege of working with you as alumnae as we continue to achieve our goal of providing this kind of education, dedicated to Torah and Midah, to every student who seeks it.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

MESSAGE FOR KOCHAVIAH 1973

As you leave Stern College for Women, I extend my sincerest congratulations for your past achievements and wish you every success in your future endeavors.

Alma mater concentrates on the moral and spiritual purposes of the knowledge acquired in a liberal arts college — a center of learning which provides the opportunity to search and research into the mysteries of the universe, to acquire a better understanding of the world in which we have been placed, to achieve a greater appreciation of the lives and destinies of the people among whom we live. Here you have devoted yourselves to the full development of your capabilities as Jews and as students of Western culture.

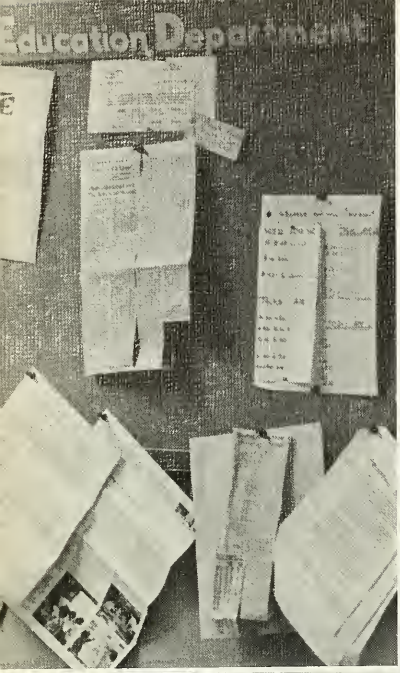

As you go forward to meet the challenges of home and career, you thus bear the special obligation to further your personal growth. In the years ahead it is to you that we will turn for the inspiration of our youth, for service to our communities. It is you who will advance our sacred traditions.

May the Almighty grant you continued well- being and fulfillment.

Sincerely yours,

Samuel Belkin

בַּת יְרוּשָׁלָיִם

I got there and the lobby was full of suitcases and girls and i got on line to get my key to my room and i met this kid named susan and then i met my roommate gloria and we went in the small elevator packed with girls laughing and talking and we got out and opened our door and there it was 17b the window faced a brick factory but we loved it and we hung up our posters and put on our sheets and lined up our favorite poetry books on our desks and hung up the pictures of mom and dad and we were so excited to have our own phone i loved dr vogel and mr altman and i studied the paramecium by heart and eleven o clock the cafeteria filled and we pushed and gabbed at the tables and that night i went out with david and we went to ratners and he took me back to that awful lounge and everybody looked at us and i had to sign in but then i was a sophomore and judy got engaged and we made her a shower in the orange lounge and we sang and danced and her diamond was so big and then came junior year and i took rabbi bermans course and western civ and i went out with allan to see the godfather with marlon brando and the summer came and went and we were all seniors and we were moving out with suitcases and the old seventeenth floor would never be the same nor would the eleventh nor would the sixth because we wouldnt be there anymore and then we were all standing in our black gowns and caps and there was dr belkin and dean mersky telling us that we received our ba and suddenly we all knew that it was over it was all over no more sitting in the narrow halls till three in the morning no more rabbi metzgers or sammy kleins no more water bombs down the back windows because indeed it was all over and now its only a memory.

ACTIVITIES

If you major in Psych here's a tip
Don't ever come late to be hip
She's got a neurosis
Paranoid psychosis
And out of a class you'll be jipped.

If you're looking for a lifelong mate
Cause you know that it's getting quite late
Then go to his class
But never wear pants
And Rabbi Metzger will catch you the bait.

Our school has a very nice dean
Unfortunately who never is seen
But you'll catch him real soon
Just wait until June
He'll be at the graduation scene.

Mr. Grossman is handsome and smart
And now into Stern he did dart
He teaches history
Like Don Juan on a spree
And breaks every freshman's heart.

If you want some gossip right away
In the registrar's office you should stay
What one leaves out
The other will sprout
And it's open till four every day.

Havazelet, Feinstein, or Shurin
If you get one you simply can't win
But think of the glee
If you get Arieli
Or if you get Weiss or Berman.

David

The Sternbury Tales

Whanthat September with autumn Sooke
Sterne College hath dazzled to the roote
Thanne longen younge maiss to goon
To the sondry londe, near B. Rikman.

Me thinketh, it accordant to resoun
To telle ye al the condiciown
Of the younge frauleins-so gay and free
Who decided to comme to the byg citie.

They learned from Sophamores, in the lounge to sit.
Thursday nights was the tyme to fetch a husband reale quicke.
Bessy was ful byg and screamed like a nutte
But the maidens knewerh well to keape their lippes shutte.

Rabbi Feinstein wore sunglasses
And at the fair maidens wolde try to make passes.
But Havazelet wolde rush near
And take Feinstein to the cafeteria, and thus interfere.

A.K.

A handsome lord - his name Berman
Learned was he and every heart he won
Philo 86.1 he taught so goode
And sayde the maidens shoulde learn the Talmud.

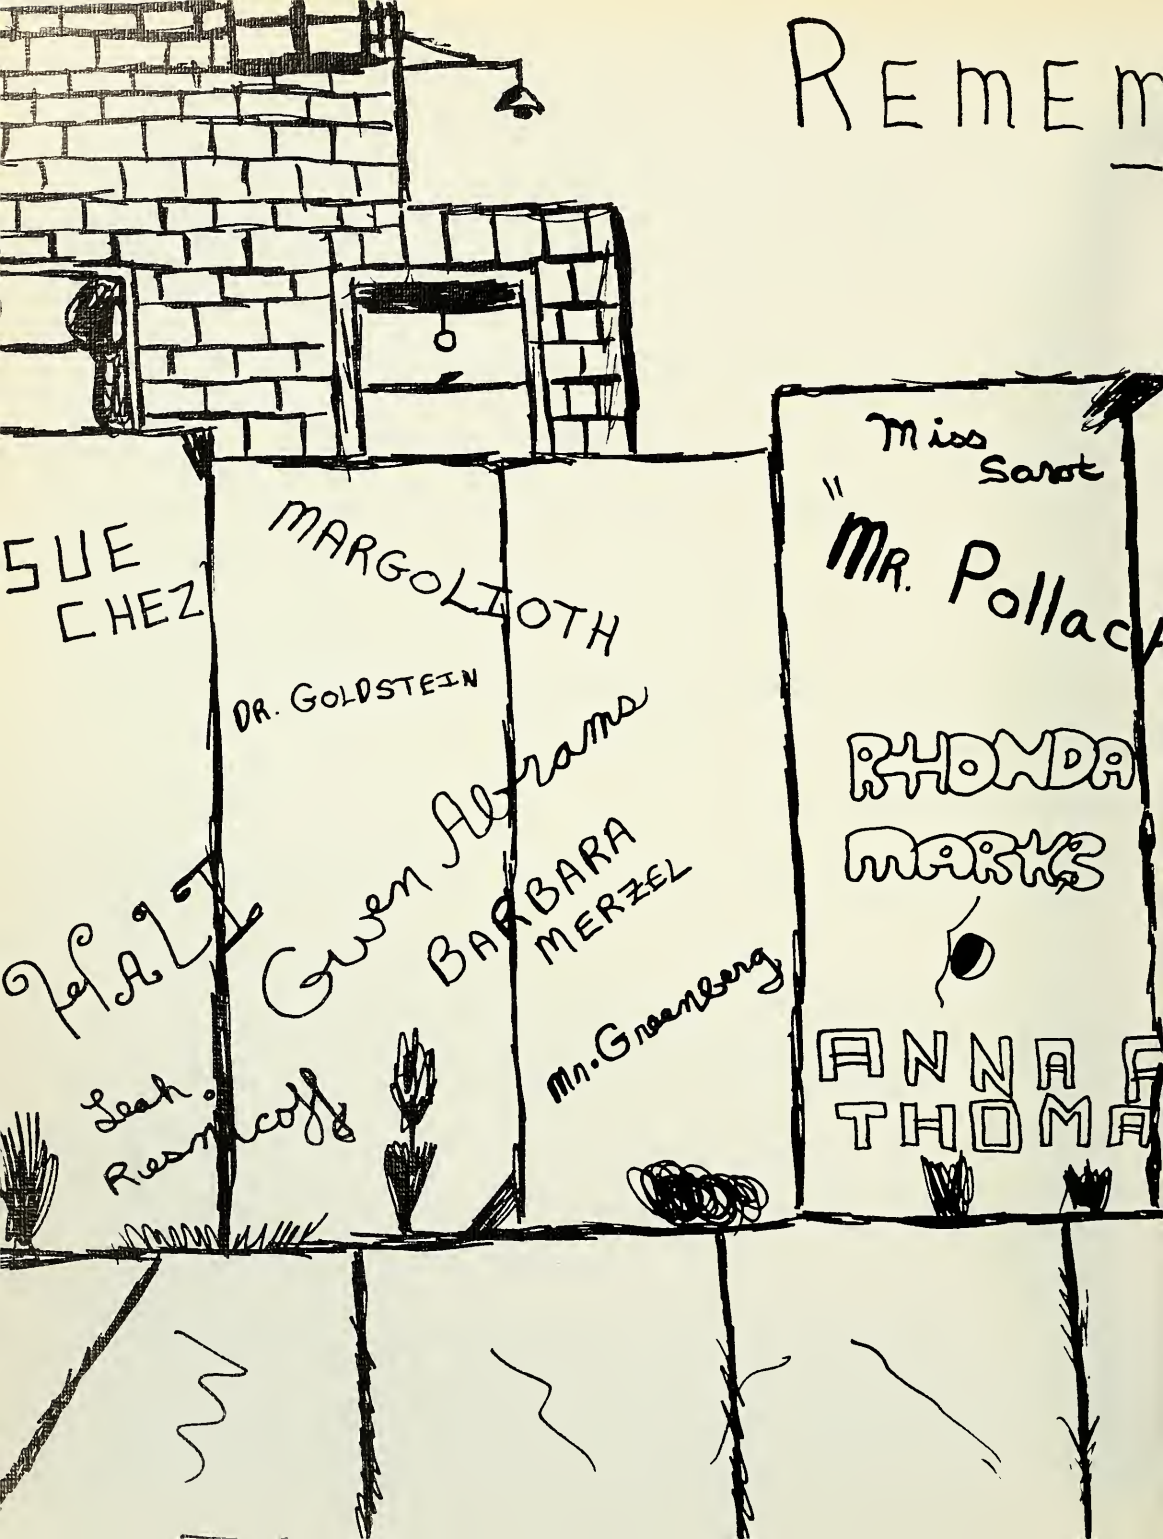

To take Perlman was very wise
He only gave A's - and that was a prize
Mr. Altman was a cewte man withal
Soothe to sayn, a good teacher men him calle.

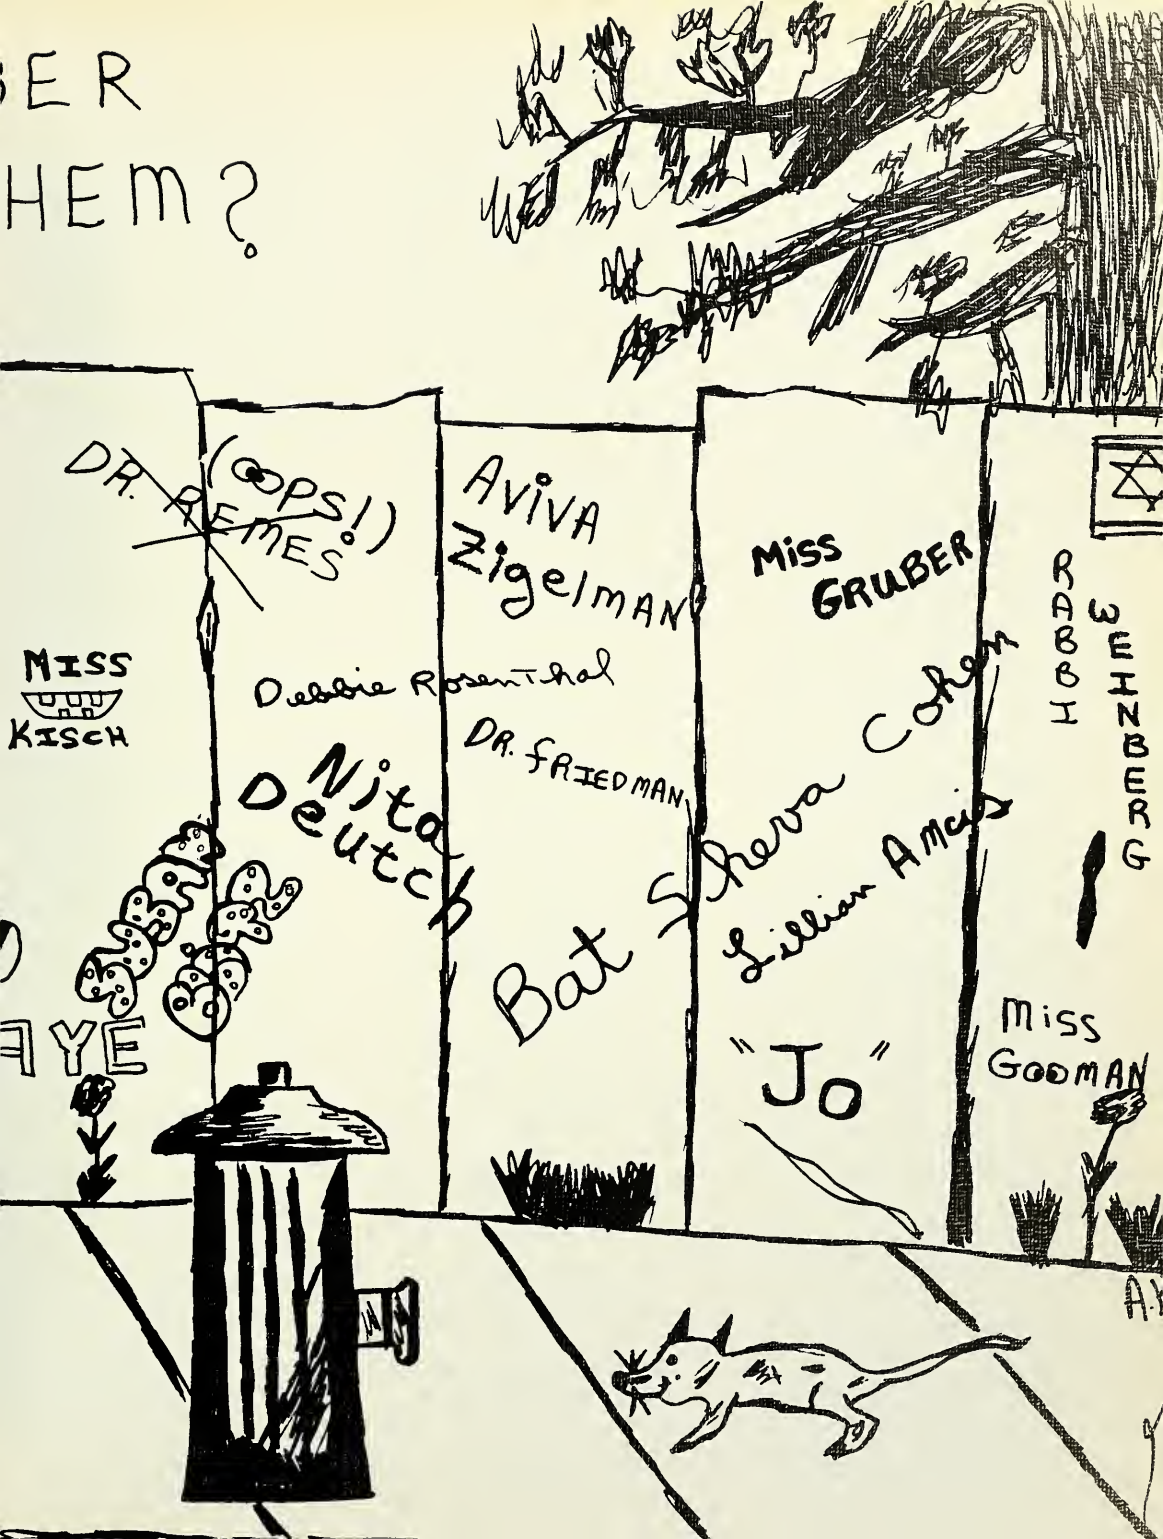

Dr. Vogel was a cewte and outspoken lord
And in his classe oon wolde never be bored
But in Senate he oft was pompous and proud
He spak only for the facultee, and really quite loude.

Mrs. Schram ther also was, in the sphere.
Who spak the english language parfait clear,
Und frau Laufer, y senora Knopka, et madamoiselle fine.
Three years of foreign tongue, und Das ist nicht leicht.

So it was not easy - four years to withstand
To get a B.A. and to fynde a man
We will always remember those years so soothe.
When Sterne College hath Dazzled to the roothe.

To my dearest father and friend who has, and always will, influence my every thought and deed. May I only live as you did, bringing love and happiness, faith and courage into the lives of all you knew. With all the love I have within my heart — for all the tender memories and beautiful dreams you have given me — to my father, who truly had within his grasp the real art of living!

"To look with pride on every year,
To dream and plan anew,
To treasure friendships you hold dear,
To think and hope and do,
To love the beauty life imparts,
To know the joy of giving,
To hold a song within your heart —
This is the art of living!!"
